

Recognize What's Important

Custom Programs For
Employee Recognition

“ We started working with Registry for Excellence 10 years ago, with a custom cast plate needed as an award. We were so happy with the creativity and quality of the product that we expanded our program and designed items from awards to clothing, customer appreciation programs, trade show giveaways, corporate event gifts and so much more. Registry is local, dependable, fairly priced and they truly care if their customer is happy. They are one of the best vendors I've ever worked with! ”

Show Your Appreciation

You already know that your employees are one of your most valuable assets. But do they know?

Employees who feel appreciated are more engaged in the work they do and more committed to your business strategy. They understand your corporate goals and want to help reach them. When employees truly feel valued, they are more likely to remain part of your workforce and contribute to your company's success for a long time.

The benefits of a workforce that feels valued are real. Research shows that companies who understand the importance of recognition enjoy:

- Greater productivity
- Less employee turnover
- Higher profitability
- Increased customer satisfaction

You Make The Effort, We Make It Easy

Employee recognition can be both formal and informal. The key is a company-wide strategy for recognition that is consistent, maintainable and measurable. That's where The Registry can help.

We work with you to create an employee recognition program that's perfect for your company. Our selection of custom gifts and awards can be used to recognize years of service, outstanding achievements and special milestones. Plus, we provide you with a simple system for ordering and fulfillment, backed by superior customer service.

The centerpiece of our collection is a custom-designed aluminum alloy plate, cast with your company name and logo. Proudly made in the USA, it is available in two sizes and a variety of display options. These plates are a unique and memorable way to say "Thank you" or "Job well done."

Reward Excellence In Your Company

Since 1985, The Registry has helped hundreds of businesses recognize and reward excellence among their employees. We'd like the opportunity to do the same for you.
